YALE ATHLETES TRIUMPH.

HARVARD AND PENNAT AGAIN GO DOWN BEFORE OLD ELI'S SONS.

Grand Track and Field Sport at Manhat-tan Field Worker Rens in Semanticant Time-Hollister and Winsor Also Break Records Orton Beaten by a Ciubmate, The twenty-first annual tourney for supremacy on track and field between the crack ath-letes of the Intercollegiate A. A. reached a sen-sational climax at Manhattan Field yesterafternoon, Excitement and rivalry been brewing since Wednesday, when ties commenced with the cycling at Manhattan Beach. Columbia in well with winning points at the wheeling game, but the advantage was only nominal, and even the most sanquine adherents of the popular "blue and white" scarcely dared to hope for a continuance of the lucky The real battle was estimated as lying between Yale, Penusyivania, and Harvard, and these rivals finished in the order written, but only after a tournament which will long be remembered, not as a three-cornered fight, but as the occasion of the greatest running feat yet

The general holiday public did not seem to grasp the significance of the fixture, and the expected rush at the turnstiles did not materialize. Still the influx was steady from the opening of the gates until the starter took the first batch of aspirants in hand. There were then about 3,000 visitors in the stands and a fair muster on the northern bleachers, where it was possible to keep in touch with the ball game in the adjoining enclosure between events. Deadhead Hill" and the equally cheap vantage points along the big viaduct were largely patronized, and the management mournfully ad mitted toward the end that the outside audience seemed to outnumber the ticket holders.

If the weather had been furnished to order it could not have been more favorable. The light southwesterly zephyr which fluttered the holiday bunting aloft was smothered by the stand, and the competitions, especially in the sprinting events, were decided in a dead caim. The track and infield had recovered their under expert treatment, and the conditions were eminently in favor record-breaking performances. The athletes were expected to do the rest, and they rose to the occasion in great style, with the result that the intercollegiate record was broken and the world's figures equalled in the opening event, the intercollegiate marks were wiped out in the half-mile run and high jump, and all records for the furlong run were entirely eclipsed,

What the gathering lacked in actual numbers it made up in character and enthusiasm. It was, in fact, a genuine college crowd, consisting almost entirely of: fair women, gayly bedecked in the colors of their respective favorites and alumni, looking for the first opportunity to show that they still retained the battle cry and lung power of their undergraduate days.

The blue of Yale and the almost similar colors of Columbia brightened several sections of the main stand, while the cohorts of Pennsylvania and Harvard were also colonized at different points, waiting for a cue from their respective leaders to wake the echoes with their weird

Referee Curtis marshalled all his officials in autocratic style and set them a time schedule which promised to break all records for promptitude. They lived up to it so well that it became necessary to call a halt shortly after 4 o'clock in order to give competitors in successive events a breathing spell. The pole vaulters had been set going so early that no delay was anticipated from that section, but the vaulters maintained their reputation, and long after the other events were over they kept pegging away as if the question at stake was one of endurance instead of height. Some spectators who hung on to the bitter end talked of moving for a special day for the vanit-ers, in addition to that already allotted to the wheeling division.

Bernard J. Wefers of Georgetown was the hero of the tournament, Regular patrons of collegiate functions had heard of him vaguely as the national and international champion and holder of the world's records at 100, 220, and 300 yards. Most of them had nover seen him, and there was a general craning of necks as he trotted down to the mark for his heat of the opening sprint. The desired proof of his merit was soon forthorning, as he came romping up the atretch with a world of speed in reserve. When it came to the final of the "hundred," however, the first resi sometion of the day developed, as Wefers had powerful grown tired of waiting on his rivals, and he came through like an electric flash, covering the distance in 9 4-3 seconds, which tied the world's record, already held by himself and others, and set up new intercollegiate figures for holder of the world's records at 100, 220, thers, and set up new intercollegiate flyures for the distance.

Wefers had another surprise in store, which he sprung in the furiong dash. He rested content with winning his heat at as slow a pace as his opponents would stand, but in the final he are the stand of the stand o tent with winning his heat at as slow a pace as hisopponents would stand, but in the final he made a supreme effort, and although the both was somewhat roughened by previous events he succeeded in accomplishing a performance which will electrify the athletic world. Getting off his mark as if sprung from a tran. Wefors shot away from his rivals at a pace which startled the onlookers. With head well up and every muscle moving like parts of a perfect machine, he came along until the gap grew so wide that the others were lost sight of for the moment. Foot by foot and yard by yard Wefers drew away. Fifty yards from the line he was about seven clear of Patterson, who was sticking to his guns in great style. Many thought Wefers could not stand the awful pace he was cutting out, but he went through without a falier, and won by a full second from Patterson in time which effaces all records, amateur and professional. Wefers was so little distressed that he was one of the first to ask the time, and when he heard the figures he danced an impromptu horupipe to an accompaniment of such a storm of applause as has rarely greeted a victor.

of such a storm of applause as has rarely greeted a victor.

At other international champion served to heighten the interest in the quarter-mile run. This was Thomas E. Burke, the speedy Bostonian who wou double brackets at the recent Olympio games. Burke was brimful of confidence, and let his rivals make running to suit themselves until fairly straightened out for the worsted, when he came with a wet sail on the outside of the struggling cluster and left his rivals as if they were anchored. The time was above the average, but considerably outside the fine intercollegiate record of 40% seconds, made by G. B. Shattuck of Amherst some years as to made by G. B. Shattuck of Amherst some years ago.

Great things were expected of Hollister in the half-mile ruo, and he seemed to realize the fact as he took the pace in his own hands almost from the start and decisively wiped a record off the books which has stood since the paimy days of the late Waiter Dohm.

The other record breaker was J. S. Winsor of Penn-ylvania, who cleared 6 feet 1 inch in the high lump. His style is the most natural of the modern crop of lumpers, and gets over without any of the symnastic tricks so common when the bar hasses the average height.

any of the symmastic tricks so common when the bar masses the average height.

The competition for points was keen enough to a second point of the session. Permaylvania made a bold bid for premier place in the early events, and at one time ind 'a leby a promising margin.

Then the combination work of old Ell's sone began to tell, and they forged steadily to the front. With three events to come, the victory of Yale was assured, and it became a meraquestion as to how many points would mark the difference. The final score was as follows:
Yale, 43bg; Pennaylvania, 23bg; Harvard, 14; Georgetown, 16; Columbia, 7bg; Boston, 5; Williams, 4; Cornell, 3; Princeton and Washington, 56 point. Summary;

Patterson set the ball rolling by winning the opening heat with a trifle up his sleeve. Wefers had yards to spare in the second heat; and won all the way under what horsemen call a "double wrap." In the final heat Wefers jumped into his stride like a greybound, and, coming through at his best speed, he won in magnificent style by seven feet. Howen made a gallant hid for second honors, but found Patterson too fast for him, the Williams crack beating him two feet. Wefers's time beat the intercollegiate record of ten seconds, held by Cary of Princeton, Ramsdell of Pennsylvania, and Crum of lows. It also ties the world's record for the distance held jointly by Wefers himself, John Owen, Jr., and two Australians.

Final Heat won by Thomas E. Burks, Soston University; T. Fisher, Yale, second; J. H. Cotfert, Princeton, third; H. H. Fish, Harvard, fourth, Time, 50 2-5 seconds.
The Olympic champion seemed in no hurry to get in front. He lay well up with the bunch, but made no bid for choice of position on the turns. When the lot struck the home stretch Hurke looked clean out of the game, but in the last fifty yards he atruck his gait and called past his field on the outside, winning by five feet. There was a rousing finish between Fisher and Coffert for second points, which the Yale man secured by a foot.

back in the bunch. On the third lan Jarvis of Penusylvania wrested the lead from Williams and Orton and Grant also moved up. This trio came up the stretch at racing pace, and as the bell rang for the final circuit they were shoulder to shoulder, the time for the three-quarters away five yards around the bend, followed by Orton, a similar distance in front of Grant.

The latter spurted repeatedly and looked like closing up, but the Pennsylvania pair were not to be caught. Orton made his customary run in the last furlong, but this time another man had the making of the pace, and Jarvis pegged along in front in tantalizing fashion, Entering the stretch the leader looked around and then put on an extra effort, which landed him a winner

Thirteen men started including P. McLaugh-lin of Georgetown, a heavy weight, who rested content with strolling around at a six-day pace for a lap when he retired. P. Parrish of Swarthmore piloted the field for a lap in 1 minute 36 3-5 seconds. His style did not suit the judge, Harry Dinse, and on the next lap he was pulled off with his clubmate, Lippincott, for company. Thrall moved up from second place to first, and led at the half, which he covered in 3 minutes 27 seconds. Fetterman was in hot pursuit of the champion, and went to his shoulder. They walked like a team until nearing the three-quarter pole, when Thrall showed slightly in front, and passed the mark, looking round at his opponent, in 5 minutes 15 seconds. On the last lap Fetterman again challenged, and a desperate contest ensued. Thrall, on the curb, had a decided pull, and turning for home he opened a gap of two yards. Fetterman hung on gamely, but failed to overhaul his man. Darrach was just turning into the stretch as the leaders finished, and J. D. Phillips of Harvard, a mere boy, was a plucky fourth.

Won by E. Hollister, Harvard: B. B. Hinckley, Yale, second; A. E. Schaff, Columbia, third. Time, I minute 56 45 seconds.

He set a clinking pace and polished off a quarter in 57.1-5 seconds, closely followed by two Harvard men and the Rochester crack, Davison, Davison made his run on the backstretch and looked dangerous for a moment, but the leading bunch responded and he was done with. Turning for home Hollister lengthened his stride and gradually drew away, winning by thirteen yards. Hinckley worked his way gamely into second place, and Schaff of Columbia outstayed the rest in a bruising finish and captured the third boint. C. Perkins, Yale, third. Time, 25 seconds Bremer, the record holder, had all his work cut out for him in the opening heat to shake off Perkins of Yale. Mason won the second after unexpected opposition from Sheldon of Yale. The latter was again in evidence in the final heat, and held Bremer up to the seventh hurdle. The Yale captain hit the next obstacle, and Bremer drew away well enough to win by five feet. Sheldon finished eight feet in front of Perkins, who ran disappointingly.

Semi-final Round-First heat won by Bernard J. Wefers, Georgetown; J. R. Bowen, Cornell, second. Time, 22 1-5 seconds. Second heat won by H. S. Patterson, Williams; W. J. Denholm, Harvard, second. Wefers simply romped home in the opening heat. Patterson of Williams looked to have a lot up his sleeve in the second trial, and a great race was looked for between the pair in the final. Wefers, however, had more in reserve than was generally supposed. When the pistol final. Wefers, however, had more in reserve than was generally supposed. When the pistol cracked for the final, Wefers shot out and at once opened a gap. Coming out of the chute he was well clear and drew away at every stride, finishing with a phenomenal burst of speed almost ten yards clear of Patterson, who had been his closest attendant all the way. Denholm of Harvard pegged along plucking and finished within a yard of Patterson. Wefers's time not only eclipses the intercollegiate record of 21 4-5 seconds, made by Linter H. Cary of Princeton, but the world's record of 21 3-5 seconds, held by himself.

THROWING SIXTEEN-POUND HAMMER.

THROWING SIXTEEN-POUND HAMMER. Won by C. Chadwick, Yale, with a throw of 132 feet 61s inches: W. Woodruff, Pennsylvania, second, with a throw of 130 feet 61s inches: Harry P. Cross, Yale, third, with a throw of 130 feet.

Chadwick furnished one of the day's surprises. He was only third best on Friday with 120 feet 10 inches, out he opened his shoulders yesterday with marked effect. Woodruff failed to improve on his best trial effort, but Cross picked up a trifle by improving on his praliminary throw of 120 feet 416 inches.

The bar was then lowered to 5 feet 11 inches, and Powell cleared it, taking second place and points. place and points.

Sheldon turned up in improved form, and got in agood jump. Mason of Harvard also eclipsed his qualifying effort, but not sufficiently, coming within six inches of the Yale captain. Bucholzzurprised himself and his admirers by reaching 21 feet 734 inches, and finishing a close third.

POLE VACUT.

Won by F. W. Allis, Yale, with a vanit of 11 feet 18 inches; W. A. Stowart, Fennsyivania, second, with a vanit of 11 feet; O. B. Smith, Columbia, and C. T. Van Winkle, Yale, tied for third place at 10 feet 9 inches. The winning jump was at first announced as 11 feet 3 inches, which would have supplanted the intercollegiate record held jointly by Buchoiz of Pennsylvania and Hoyt of Harvard. On remeasurement the height was reduced to 11 feet 134 inches, and Allis essayed to go ahead for the record. The pair tied for third were satisfied to toss up for the medal and divide the point. Smith won. The officials grew tired and left Allis to do as he chose. Stewart at the last moment filed a protest against the winner, claiming that he had infringed the rules of competition.

Brooklyn Athlette Club Gamen.

For the first time in several seasons there was a eries of open field and track competitions, in which many well-known amateur athletes competed, at brand Street Park, Maspeth, yesterday. The Brook lyn A. C. were the sponsors for the occasion and the members of this formerly lively organization from President John J. Bradley down, exhibited some of their former activity for which they were noted by carrying out a fine programme in a very able manner at their cosy plant. A basehall match between the lotter carriers of Station W and the Brooklyn A. C. team resulted in a victory for the carriers by two runs. SPORT ON THE NEW JERSET OFAL. Council and Liebgold Benten-Honore for

The New Jersey A. C.'s annual Decoration Day carnival of outdoor sport on the New Jersey Oval, Bergen Point, yesterday afternoon, was enjoyed by the usual great throng of holiday pleasure seekers and devotees of athlette games. The organization provided for the diversion of its mests the customary big and varied programme of interesting events, exactly a score of such contests being on the card. With the exception of one exhibition event these competitions took place without a hitch. The great tournament lasted from noon until sunset, and the sport was entirely satisfactory, despite the fact that no records were shattered. the sport was entirely satisfactory, despite the fact that no records were shattered. The referre was Harry McMillan of the athletic club of the Schuylkili Navy.

The absence from the programme of that old athletic stand-by, the 100-yard run, was a noticeable feature. A seventy-five-yard dash was, however, substituted. Nine heats were contested, and five of them were run in 7-4-5 seconds, within one-fifth second of the record. The team of the Pingry School of Elizabeth won the one-mile interscholastic relay race handliy. In the special half a mile race Champion Klipatrick had a hard tussle for prestige with George Hollander of the New Machattan A. C. W. GOLFING AT MORRISTOWN. JAMES A. TING WINNER OF THE

M'R. TWOMBLY CUP.

Iwenty Players Hand in Cards in the Spring Tournament Tyng Repeats His Lake-wood Form and Gains the Victory-Pretty Play on Splendidly Level Greens. It was a gala t'me on the new links of the Murris County Golf Club at Morristown yester-day, and, as usual on a special occasion, the grounds were thronged with the best-known families of the neighborhood. The golfing event was the fourth semi-annual scratch competition for the cup presented by Mrs. H. McK. Twombly, James A. Tyng, the old Harvard pitcher, since his clever play against Herbert C. Leeds, in the Lakewood spring tourney, has been regarded by the club men as a sure winner.

His score fulfiled the expectations of the students of form, for he won very handily. The other winners of the trophy, William Shippen, Henry P. Phipps, and James R. Lowell, were in the defeated division.

The new circular putting greens laid out by Willie Weir, the Edinburgh professional, were greatly appreciated by the golfers. They were greatly appreciated by the goliers. They were as level as a shuffleboard, and can be played on from any direction.

In spite of the increased length of the links, the scores compare well with showings made last year. Mr. Tyng, in a practice game in the morning, made the links in 82, but he fell eleven strokes behind that total in the match. The summaries:

A NEW COUNTRY CLUB OPENED. Golf and Other Events at the Ardsley Casino.

A dance on Friday night, a golf match yesterday morning, and still another dance in the evening, were the events that ushered in the season for the new Ardsley Casino, the latest of country clubs, at; Dobbs Ferry. In its general aspect the building resembles a country house of the Elizabethan order, such as may be seen in Essex, or other of the older countles in England, but in its fittings the appointments recall an up-to-date American home. The idea is to make the club a meeting place for the Hudson River families.

A promenade concert was the feature of the afternoon. Cyrus Field Judson was indefatiafternoon. Cyrus Field Judson was indefatigable in directing affairs. Twenty years ago his grandfather, the promoter of the telegraph, had prophesied that the spot should be an ideal location for a country club, and Mr. Judson, his grandson, was delignted to think that his words had come true. The attendance exceeded 2,000, Channeey M. Depew, Gen. Nelson O. Miles, John Hrisbane Walker, and the other judges, in a hor-eless carriage, were among the onlookers. Dr. Roderick Terry was the winner in the golf match for a cup offered by Philip Schuyler. His score was:

PRINCETON DEFEATS HARFARD. A Great States lasing Bull Came Won by

CAMBRIDGE, May 30.-After elateen innings, n which the excitement was never below fever heat, Princeton finally won from Harvard today by a score of S to C. It was a wonderful contest, and will be remembered as the most remarkable game over played in Cambridge. Both teams played hard from the start. fielding on both sides was sharp and clean, and the work of the Princeton outfield was simply phenomenal. No less than three times did Wheeler in left field catch, hits which seemed absolutely safe, and which would have won the game for Harvard. Paine and Wilson both held out remarkably well. Harvard started off by knocking Easton out of the box in the first inning. After five bits which, with two wild throws, netted five runs, Capt. Bradley took Faston out and substituted Wilson. Wilson pitched a steady game and the Harvard men were unable to bunch their hits off his delivery. Princeton scored hits off his delivery. Princeton scored four in the fifth, when Easton cleared the bases by a two-ongger after two men were out. In the eighth Paine's wiid pitch let in the run which tied the score. In the fourteenth Princeton earned a run and Harvard got another life through Clarkson's and Haughton's hits. In the sixteenth. Ward got a two-bagger, went to third on Wheeler's single, and scored on Easton's sacrifice to right. Wheeler came in on an error by Chandler. The score: HARVARI

FOLUNTEERS FOR CUBA. Officers from Russin, English and Irish Ad

Within the last few weeks, owing perhaps to the prominence given Cuban affairs by the preparations for the fair, the Junta has been besieged by applicants for posts in the patriot army. Some of these were mere loafers, anxious to get any job that appeared to be easy and profitable. Others were from that class of Irish whose love of a good fight induces them to volunteer whenever there is any prospect of one. Many of the volunteers, however, are of very different material, and are plainly animated by enthusiasm for the cause.

Of the men that have offered their services some have come for the purpose from distant countries. A few days ago six men from an inland town in Russia presented themselves at the offices of the Junta, at 56 New street. All of them were of respectable appearance, and three were officers in the Russian army. As they could not speak English it was some time before they could make their wants understood. Finally they explained that they had set out from Russia for the sole purpose of enlisting and that without any other ulterior aim than that of serving in the cause of liberty. The officers offered to show their papers, but in compliance with the wishes of Generals Gomez and Maceo they received no encouragement, Among those that have volunteered are officers from the English, French, German, Belgian, and Swiss armies. From the United States army, Swiss armies. From the United States army, however, have come the most applicants; many men from the navy, too, have signified their willingness to help the cause.

To all comers the same answer is returned, that the patriots have abundance of men, more, in fact, than they can arm. According to recent advices from Cuba there are more than 5,000 men attached to the army who cannot be armed. It is the custom to drill these men and when they are sufficiently well instructed to send them back to the cities, where they await a call from the patriot General, who summons them in batches from time to time as supplies of arms are captured from the enemy or arrive from the United States.

With all such applicants the officers of the Junta have to be particularly careful to avoid saying anything that might reveal their plans or be construed as an offece against international law. Daily the office is visited by Spanish spies, who prefend that they wish to enlist, and try to find out something that might be of use to their employers.
